The room was crowded with McCarren sympathizers, and their cheers roused the echoes in deserted Broadway. Mr. Williams then made the charge that McCarren has practically wrecked the Democratic organization of Brooklym.

"In 1907." declared Mr. Williams. "There were 22,519 less voters enrolled than in 1893, and 29,926 less enrolled than in 1893, and 29,926 less enrolled than in 1893, and 29,926 less enrolled than in 1893. "there were 22,519 less voters enrolled than in 1893, and 29,925 less enrolled than in 1893, and 29,925 less enrolled than in 1996."

McCarren replied that the figures were misleading. He said that each campaign had conditions that made the vote a separate story from that of another campaign.

"I claim," said McCarren, "there is no more loyal organization in the United States than the Democrated to aid in the election of a Democratic State ticket than is this organization of which I am the leader. But this organization, unmindful of anything other organizations may do, will not stand to be stabbed in the back by an individual, and particularly one on the ticket for which its members are working.
